Dear Steve,
I am a 32 year man who has worked for five years at a chemical plant. I have a superintendent that I get along with real well. I invite him to me house for Bar-B-Q's and I take him fishing and to the Astro games. My problem is the other men I work with seem to be jealous of the relationship between me and my boss. My co-workers do not seem to accept or like me very much. What can I do about this problem?
Signed, Puzzled, League City

Dear Puzzled,
I figured out your problem. You are an ass-kisser. Of course the other guys can't stand you. I just met you in this letter and I don't like you either.

Dear Steve,
I am a 36 year old stay-at-home mother of two. My husband is a great provider and has insurance and benefits. He comes in from work each afternoon and spends a couple of hours with the two boys. He does not help cook, clean or even help with the dishes. The only break I get all day is when the boys are in school. What can I do to get my husband to help around the house?
Signed, Tired, Texas City

Dear Tired,
You sleep eight hours a night and your boys are in school 8 hours a day and your husband is gone to work for ten hours. The problem is you are lazy and worthless. There are thousands of women in the surrounding community that would love to trade places with you. You need to get off your ass and do the work around the house like you should have been trained to do.

Dear Steve,
My 9 year old boy keeps misbehaving. He back talks me, cusses and tells his mother to shut up. I have taken away his cell phone, his ipod and his TV in his room, but he takes it all back when I'm at work. I have sent him to his room but he refuses to stay there. What can I do about this problem?
Signed, Dad who has lost control, Dickinson

Dear Nancy-boy,
You have forgotten that you are the man of the house. It is your "JOB" to make the rules and enforce them. The next time that boy smart mouths you or your wife you take a switch off a tree, grab him by the arm and "WHUP" him til he pisses a ring around himself. With the stupid kids it sometimes take two or three treatments. You are the man of the house sissy-boy, you need to start acting like it.

Dear Steve,
I am a 33 year old married woman for six years. For the last five years my husband has worked approximately two months a year. The other ten months a year he sits on the couch, drinks beer and orders me around. I work two jobs and pay all of the bills and buy all of the groceries. Steve, what do you think about this?
Signed, Sick and Tired, Bacliff

Dear Sick and Tired,
What do I think? I think you are stupid. You admit your husband works some every year, and yet you are complaining?
